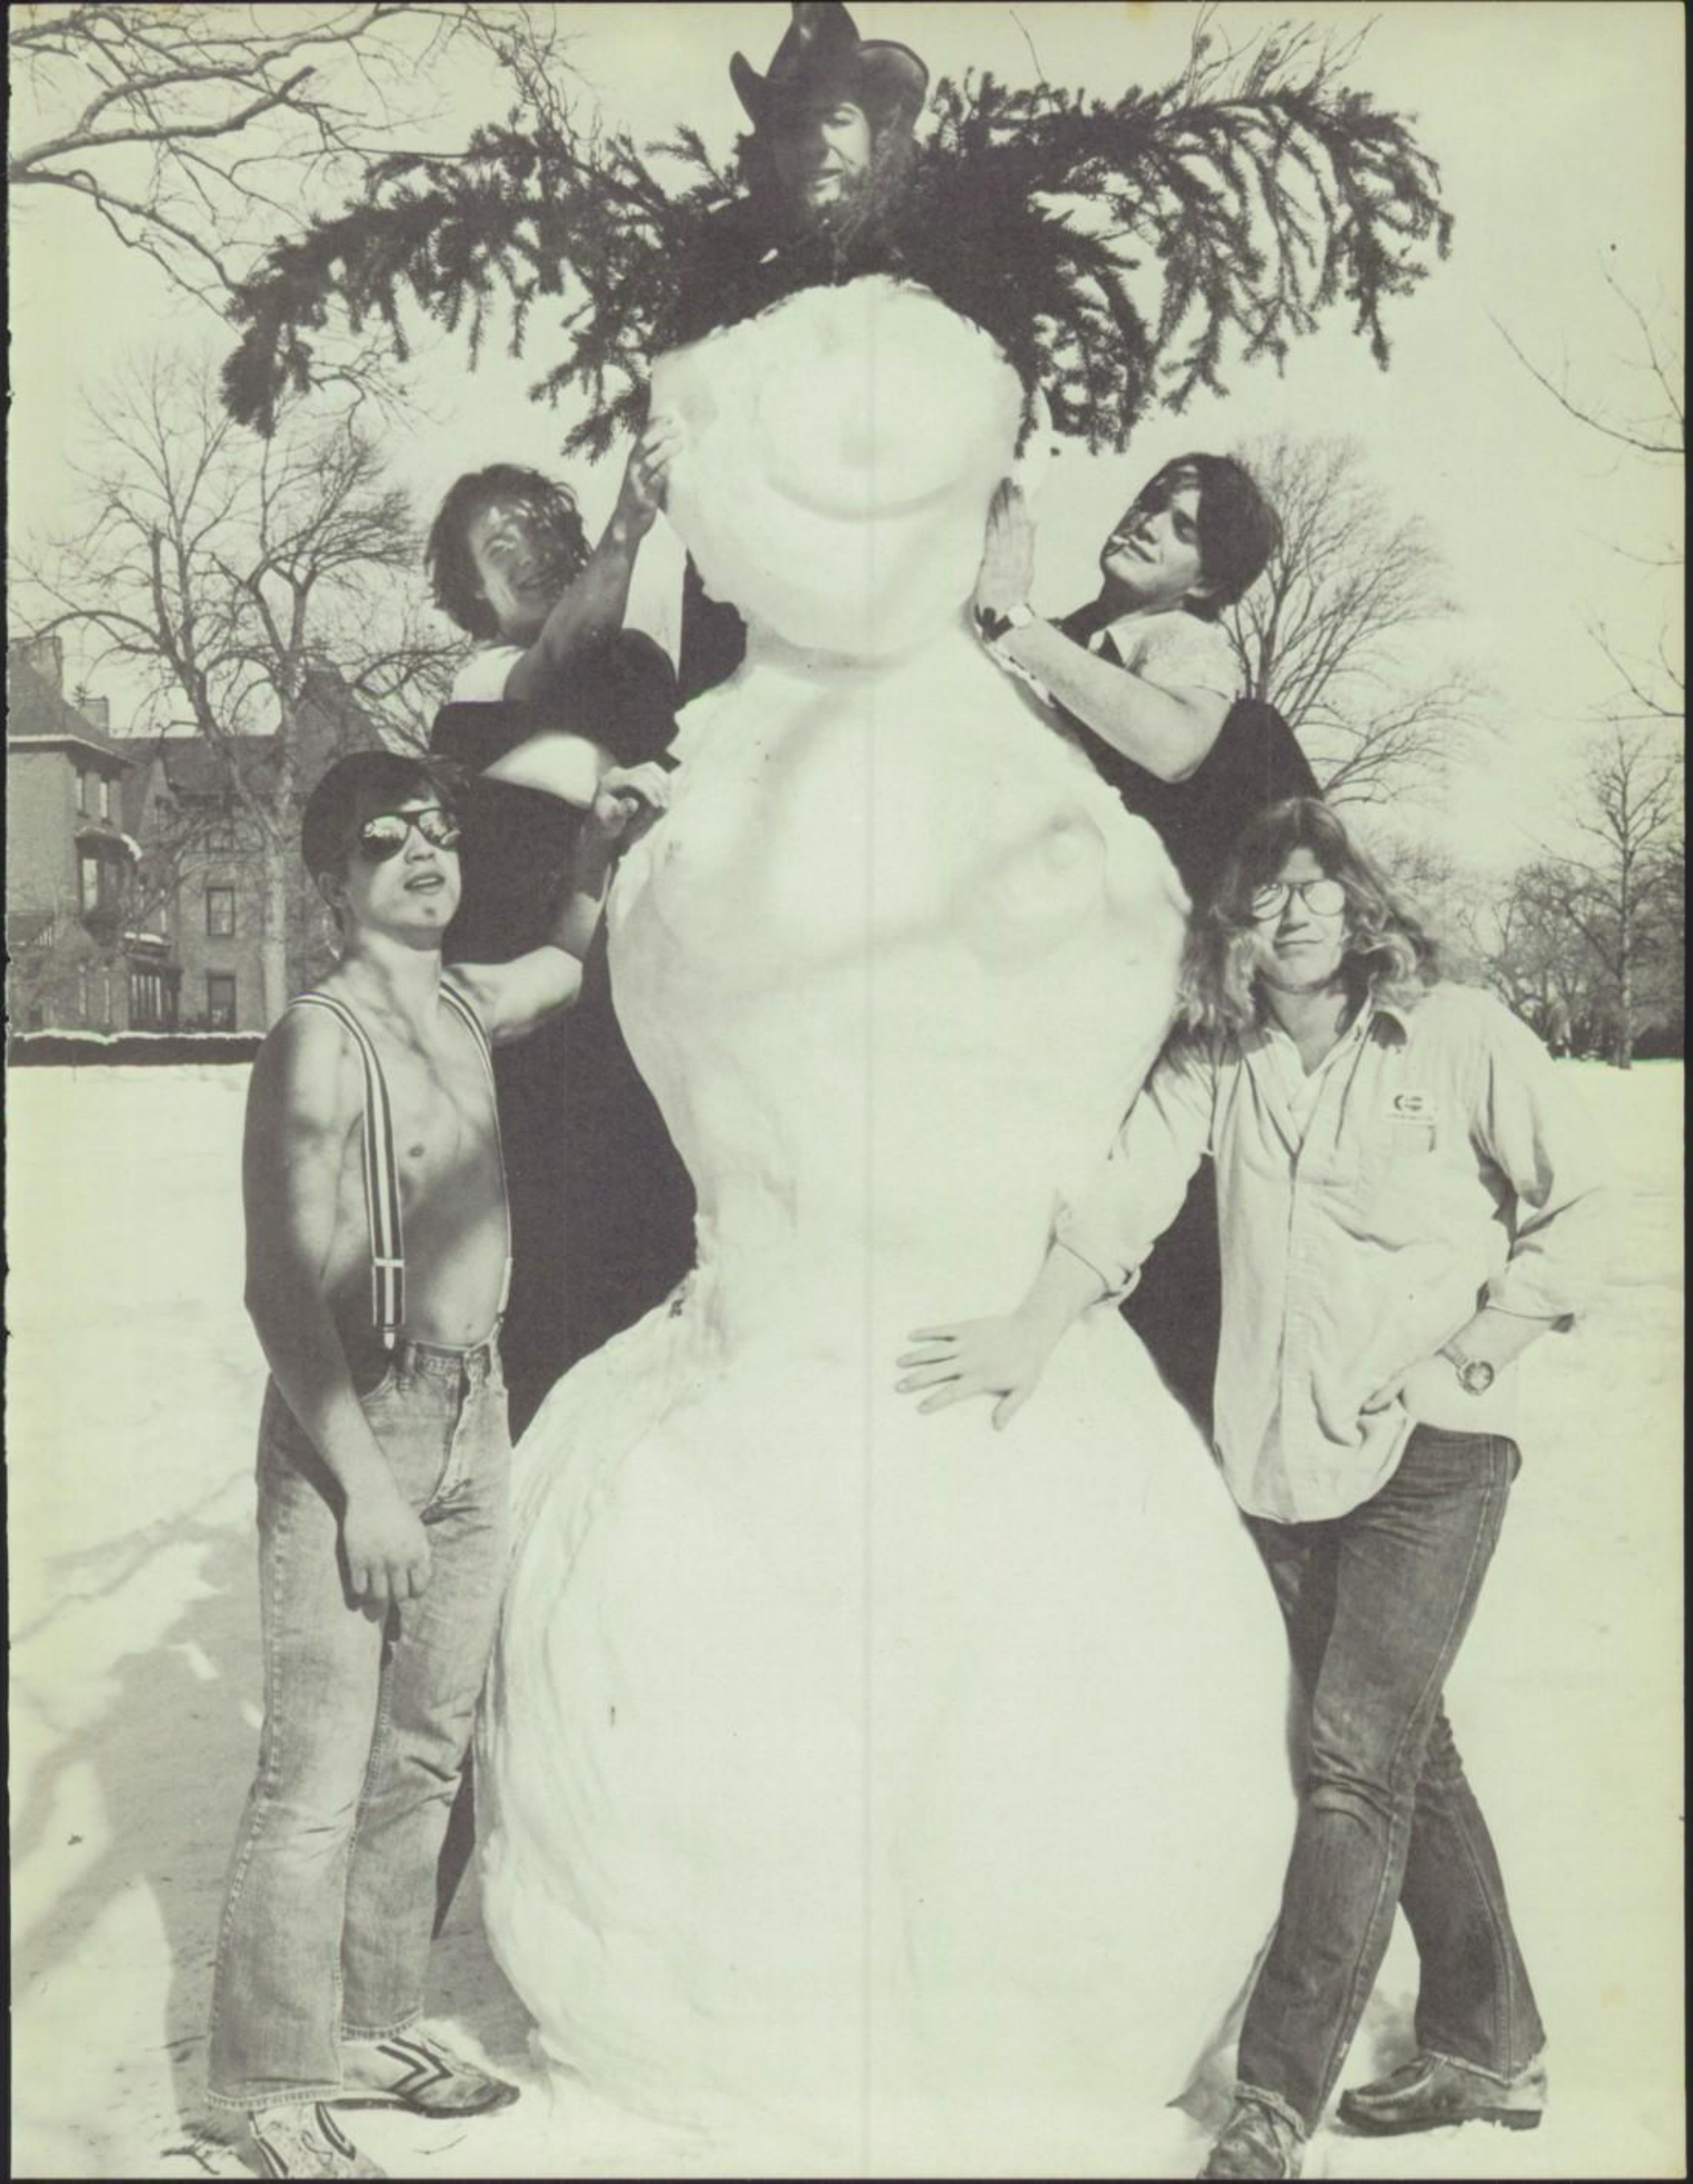
DEDICATION

Under the watchful eye and demanding requirements of T.K. Graham, science classes at Lawrenceville have transcended the rote memorization of soon-forgotten facts and become a truly valuable process of questioning and investigating. The best education is an enjoyable one, and Mr. Graham succeeds in amusing and teaching at the same time. For his invaluable contribution of wit and wisdom, we dedicate this Olla Podrida to Mr. T.K. Graham.

THE FIFTH FORM

It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness, it was the epoch of belief, it was the epoch of incredulity, it was the season of Light, it was the season of Darkness, it was the spring of hope, it was the winter of despair, we had everything before us, we had nothing before us, we were all going direct to Heaven, we we were all going direct the other way . . .

CHARLES DICKENS, A TALE OF TWO CITIES



HEAD MASTER'S MESSAGE

As I write in January, I look ahead to Commencement Day for the Class of 1977. Yesterday President Carter at his inauguration said, "I have no new dream to set forth today, but rather urge a fresh faith in the old dream."

Our School, Lawrenceville, expresses the old dreams of its founders, of those who have made commitments to it in the intervening years, and of each of us this year – not least the members of the Class of 1977. We began with dreams of students, of teachers, of parents, and of alumni. On Commencement Day some of those relationships will shift, and the questions will be, which dreams have faded, which have become tarnished, and which have become real?

Dreams mingle frequently with fantasy. Is there a "Bionic student" in the Class of 1977? Has some teacher been Promethean? Which parent counts for himself the triumphs that belong to his son? The sorting out of dreams rests upon self-knowledge gained in the physical challenge of athletics, sharpened on a base of old-fashioned skills in the "three R's", enriched with perspectives of music, and art, and literature. Always imperfect and always incomplete, our valid dreams also give us rewards, allowing us to rise above the grubby business of doing grumpily what comes next, whether we have had enough sleep or not, whether there is snow on the ground or not, whether we feel that we are making headway or not.

If dreams give us perspective, sharing them generates the warmth of human relationships. Sharing, too, is imperfect and fitful. But through the year we have been through many things together. The shared experiences come into focus on Commencement Day as do the shared perspectives. Infinitely diverse, they focus consistently on Lawrenceville. That truth we express ritually on Commencement Day. That truth creates for all our lives a common bond, as it has for so many Lawrentians in past generations.

Mrs. McClellan and I are proud to be part of that sharing. Our dreams and our sharings go into the world partly as yours, and the reverse is also true. We wish you well.

Bruce McClellan

IN APPRECIATION

Walter Klockner's care and concern for the Lawrenceville boy as an individual and as a team member is not unusual when one considers his own past. As a former Lawrentian and college athlete, his understanding of the needs of the student athlete is a natural extension of his own experience.

In Walt's world (the equipment room of the Field House) the varsity "L" winner and the first form sub on the Cromwell team have had equipment repaired, and ankle wrap adjusted, a "stolen" jersey returned, and a sympathetic ear tuned to the tale of being benched by a coach who just doesn't understand unique talent.

Unflappable in the face of daily crisis, friendly toward the unfriendly, patient with the often demanding clientele, available at any hour of the day (and often night), this great gentleman is truly the right arm of the athletic program.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The reputation of student government from school to school across the United States is so diminished as to stigmatize its officers and members. These students are elected, many say, in a popularity contest and have as their sole goal to survive the year without getting into trouble, and thus be able to note on their Ivy League applications their positions. This year, Lawrenceville's Council was told quite bluntly that unless they could do something to establish trust between students and faculty and administration and display leadership, there would not be a council next year. The answer, then, to the ever-recurring questions: Is student government really needed? (at least at Lawrenceville) appears to be "no".

I don't know that I agree with this response, but I think I understand why this is the conclusion. When this year is over and Paul and Mike and I leave the Upper House for the final time, we will have done some infinitely worthwhile things: establishing guidelines for house athletics, sponsoring trips to athletic events and concerts, the snow shoveling project, establishing a pub on campus, a restructuring of the class representative system, a tutoring program for underformers, and, maybe, with at least the help of a miracle or two, a revision of the girls in rooms rule. We will have spent untold hours in and preparing for Disciplinary Committee meetings as well as attending innumerable lunches, dinners, and coffees as "leaders". Yet, in perspective, Lawrenceville will have changed very little for our efforts.

To me, this is the reason that the desirability of a Student Council is so often questioned. The things the Council does rarely affect more than two dozen people at any one time. Co-education is the single most important question facing the school, yet in all probability this year's Council will do nothing to change the present situation. Our opinions are not listened to, let alone heeded. Case in point, last year's Council petitioned the President of the Board of Trustees to at least discuss the co-education issue; they were told, in private, "Co-education isn't in Lawrenceville's cards for this year or the next twenty, so stop wasting your time, boys."

The School is quite willing to allow the Council and Student Government to shovel snow for the elderly and tutor befuddled mathematicians, but when it comes time for a change in policy or in rules, the Student Council, like the students and like the faculty, is impotent. Only when the Administration and especially the Board of Trustees is willing to not only listen to the students, but abide by their judgements, can Student Government mean more than a way to get into Yale.

Dan Challener, Vice-President

My year as President has been a broadening one. It has been invaluable to have worked with so many different people and been exposed to so much.

At times it has been intensely frustrating. Having an insider's view of Lawrenceville, I have seen much that is never seen by the community. I've seen incredible bickering among what is apparently a stable and cohesive faculty. I've witnessed men's egos take precedence over what should be their main concerns — the welfare of students. And I've stood helplessly by as some of my own dreams and hopes are buried by politics and the daily grind of perfunctory routine.

But I consider this year a successful one. As a council we have challenged and probed the institutions of the school. After much deliberation and consultation with other schools, we have proposed a revision in the discipline code (now awaiting the Student-Faculty Senate). In submitting our athletic proposal, we have raised some rather serious questions as to whether the athletic program really serves those who would most benefit from athletics.

On a different tack, we've tried to create a sense of community, fellowship, and caring by bringing people together — faculty and students in both work and recreation. To make a "stab" at alleviating weekend boredom, we have organized trips to concerts and sports events. By raising volunteers to shovel snow for Lawrenceville Township Senior Citizens and getting Fifth Formers to tutor Lower Schoolers, we have shown just how much we can achieve if only we look beyond our own shallow borders.

I want to thank those who have helped to make this year a rich experience — Dr. McClellan, fellow councilmen Dan Challener and Mike Goodman, and those who have stayed by my side when things became tough.

Paul Georgiadis, President

Of the three years I have been at Lawrenceville, I have served on the Student Council for the last two years. Throughout these two years, students continually crack jokes about the Council, "as if they can achieve anything worthwhile!" I feel students elect a qualified Council on all levels to represent them. Students question and mock the Council because radical changes have not been made. Radical changes, however, never transpire at a "traditional" school like Lawrenceville; gradual and planned steps are required.

Instead of an all-out effort for co-education this year, a new regulation concerning the entertaining of girls in boys' rooms would provide an excellent base for future classes to strive for. Last year's picketing sparked a sizable amount of interest, but that interest was short lived, and nothing permanent resulted from the Council's efforts. This year's Council corresponded with many schools similar to Lawrenceville inquiring about the problems involved with girls-in-rooms policies. These schools do have, or have had, regulations concerning visitation privileges. If they respond to our questions, the possibility of reaching a faculty-student compromise would be inevitable.

There remains the problem of a reticent student body. Many good ideas, beneficial to both students and the school, remain hidden from the remaining students. Either students are afraid to speak-up, or they don't know with whom to speak. These ideas might be impractical, but variations on the basic theme may provide a solid goal to achieve. Talk to your house president. The ideas must get into circulation if they are to produce results. A Student Council can not waste the time or the energy tearing down barriers erected by an ignorant student body.

Micheal Goodman, Secretary-Treasurer

CLASS ESSAY

"In this life we prepare for things, for moments and events and situations ... We worry about wrongs, think about injustices, read what Tolstoi or Ruskin has to say ... Then, all of a sudden, the issue is not whether we agree with what we have heard and read and studied ... The issue is us, and what we have become."

– Robert Coles

Lawrenceville – a progression of memories that mellows as we, the man and the school, grow farther apart. We begin as college men, leafing through the Olla Pod – we will probably remember things we didn't, or weren't supposed to, have – the cars, the girls, and the beer blasts. It seems ironic that the things we thought we enjoyed the most were likely to incur the wrath of the Discipline Committee. But the "legal" things we did were fun too. It was all fun in its way. Was it worth it? "Well, I guess so ..."

Ten years later, we are young men on the make: junior executives, budding doctors, salesmen, social workers (maybe – what will society say to social workers with Lawrenceville educations?), and even a few destitute bums and winos. We haul out the old prep school yearbooks again (just for kicks, mind you), brush a decade's worth of dust from the cover, and browse through the parade of faces and places that brings with it just a few tinges of remorse – something is slipping through our fingers, but who can say what it is?

Let time pass again, it is now thirty years later. We have lost count of those friendly letters with the "Annual Giving" seal that betrays their real purpose, and how many checks have we signed away to the old alma mater?

Once again, we open the books, more dust covered than before, and engage one more time in perhaps a slightly painful session of reminiscing. What will we remember of the old place? "Probably the most absurd things," said one faculty member-graduate. It comes slowly at first, only a few faces are still familiar, and then, like water sweeping over a dam, it all comes back to us. Playing Frisbee on the circle, the sultry spring afternoons spent on the dusty floor of the Field Palace, watching the grass grow temptingly verdant as we languished in the oppressively close air of the classroom, and the cold winter mornings when we trudged through the snow to get a couple of soggy eggs in the Dining Center; maybe these are some of the images that will flash back somewhere between our thirtieth and fiftieth reunions. Who can say what reminders will stay with us – let's be thankful that we aren't there quite yet.

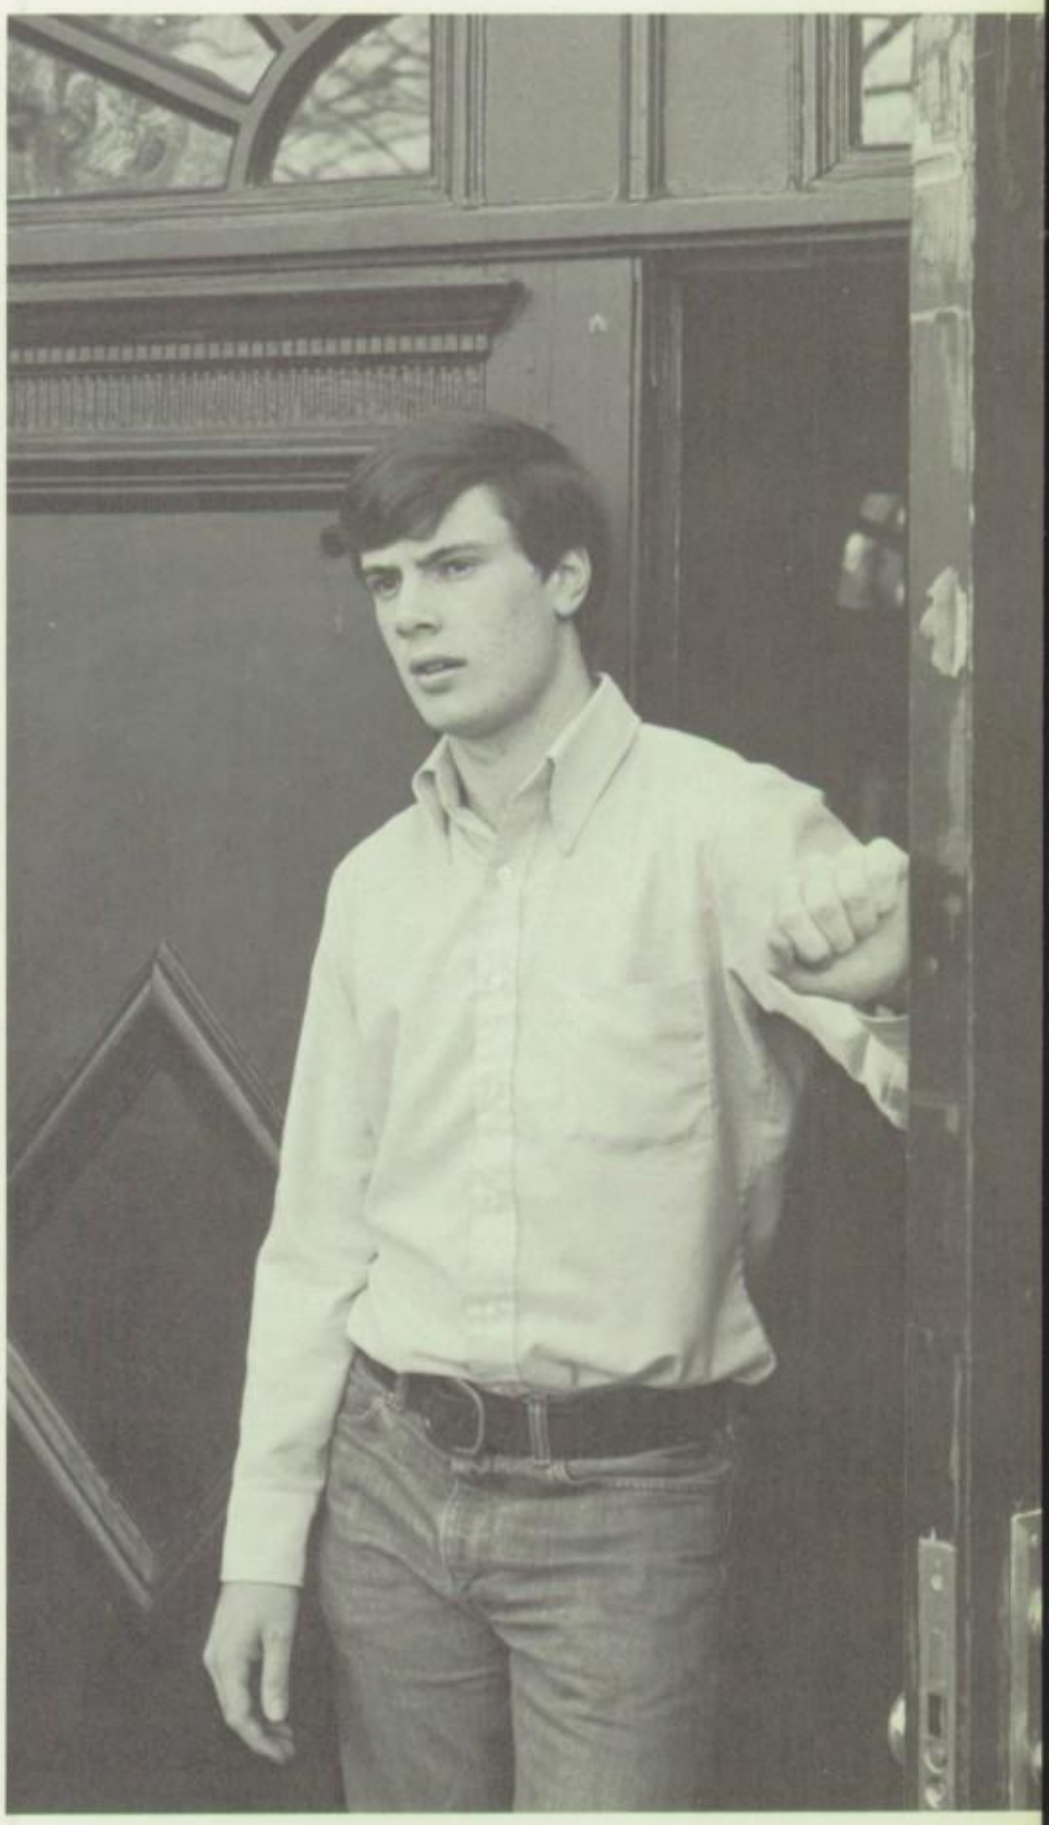
An interested uncle, fulfilling the traditional duty of asking the same old question, "Where are you going to college?", once told me that those of us who went to private schools had a built-in advantage over those poor suckers who still attended the home town high school. We would be fools, he added, if we didn't put that valuable advantage to some good use. Of course, when I inquired about his idea of "some good use", he was rather hard-pressed to give an answer, but he muttered something about "intellectual elitism" and "boys educated on the plush campus of that southern rich boys' school."



Of course, the man was right, in a way. We do have an advantage of sorts, even if we don't know how to dance with girls when we get to college. As Mr. Coles suggests, the issue is no longer whether we remember the past passive participle of the verb "buscar", or whether we know exactly what Macbeth said to the bloody image of Banquo sitting at his dinner table, the issue is us and "what we have become." We are a class of some 200 unrelated people from virtually all over the world, drawn together for the tenuous purpose of education, and then released several years later on an unsuspecting and unprepared universe. Once free of the black iron fence that binds us together with such surprising strength, we are on our own, armed only with our degrees and our youth, destined to "do something good for the world". Let us do that something, what ever it is, as well as we are able. Whether we are bankers, game show M.C.'s, or even social workers, Lawrenceville will probably prove to have helped somehow. Yes, it was all worth it.

Thus ends the Class of 1977. Goodbye and (must I say it?) good luck.

There is something I don't know that I am supposed to know.
I don't know what it is I don't know,
  and yet am supposed to know,
and I feel I look stupid
  if I seem both not to know it and not know what it is I don't know.
Therefore I pretend I know it.
  This is nerve-racking
  since I don't know what I must pretend to know.
Therefore I pretend to know everything.

I feel you know what I am supposed to know but you can't tell me what it is because you don't know that I don't know what it is.

You may know what I don't know, but not that I don't know it, and I can't tell you. So you will have to tell me everything.

I worked like a slave for years,
Sweat so hard just to end my fears,
Not to end my life a poor man,
But by now I know I should have run.

DAN CHALLENER

He was alone. He was unheeded, happy and near to the wild heart of life. He was alone and young and willful and wildhearted, alone amidst the waste of wild air and brackish waters and the sea harvest of shells and tangle and veiled sunlight

My thanks to four years of friends, Messrs. Akers, Humason, Stanard, Smith, Satty, and especially Poreda, but more than anyone, my parents, who made it possible.

Yeah, but it's also nice to know that when you don't have anything together, the scenery also changes.

DARYL WASKOW

I must go down to the sea again,
To the lonely sea and the sky,
And all I ask is a tall ship
And a star to steer her by.

The long days of class and sports. The longer nights of Periwig and homework. Pizza in 25 Upper at 1:00 am and the lask of sleep. Thank you Lawrenceville for my wealth of friends and all the experiences. Thank you, Mr. Stanard for the Sailing Club.

Special thanks to Mom and Dad whom I saw in the morning at 7:00 and occasionally at night if I wasn't home too late — if I was home at all.

ARTHUR HUI

In the souls of the people the grapes of wrath are filling and growing heavy, growing heavy for vintage.

John Steinbeck, Grapes of Wrath

Despair, frustration, anger, and bitterness. I felt all of these during my stay at Lawrenceville. Mostly anger and bitterness at those fools who've kept this school an anomaly. To remain a good school, Lawrenceville must change; Change, Lawrenceville, makes the world go around; get on board.

Paul, Sam, all those crazy people in the Pres-Suite, many others, thanks for the good times. Special thanks to my parents, without whose support I wouldn't have made it.

It's getting better all the time
I used to get mad at my school
The teachers that taught me weren't cool
You're holding me down, turning me round
Filling me up with your rules
I've got to admit it's getting better
A little better all the time
It's getting better all the time
It's getting better since you've been mine
Me used to be angry young man
Me hiding me head in the sand
You gave me the word
I finally heard
I'm doing the best that I can

Backstage, Hendrix was leaning up against a fire hydrant between sets and listening to somethin infinitely far away, when a reporter approached him in a toupee and a plastic raincoat. "I'm from the New York Times," said the reporter. And Hendrix half-opening his eyes, smiled the very faintest and weariest of wry smiles. "Pleased to meet you," he said. "I'm from Mars."

In the times to come as the past there will be generations taking hold as though loneliness and the genius of struggle has always dwelt in the hearts of pioneers. To the question, "What will the story be of the family of man across the near or far future?" some would reply, "For the answers read if you can in the strange and baffling eyes of youth."

Carl Sandburg

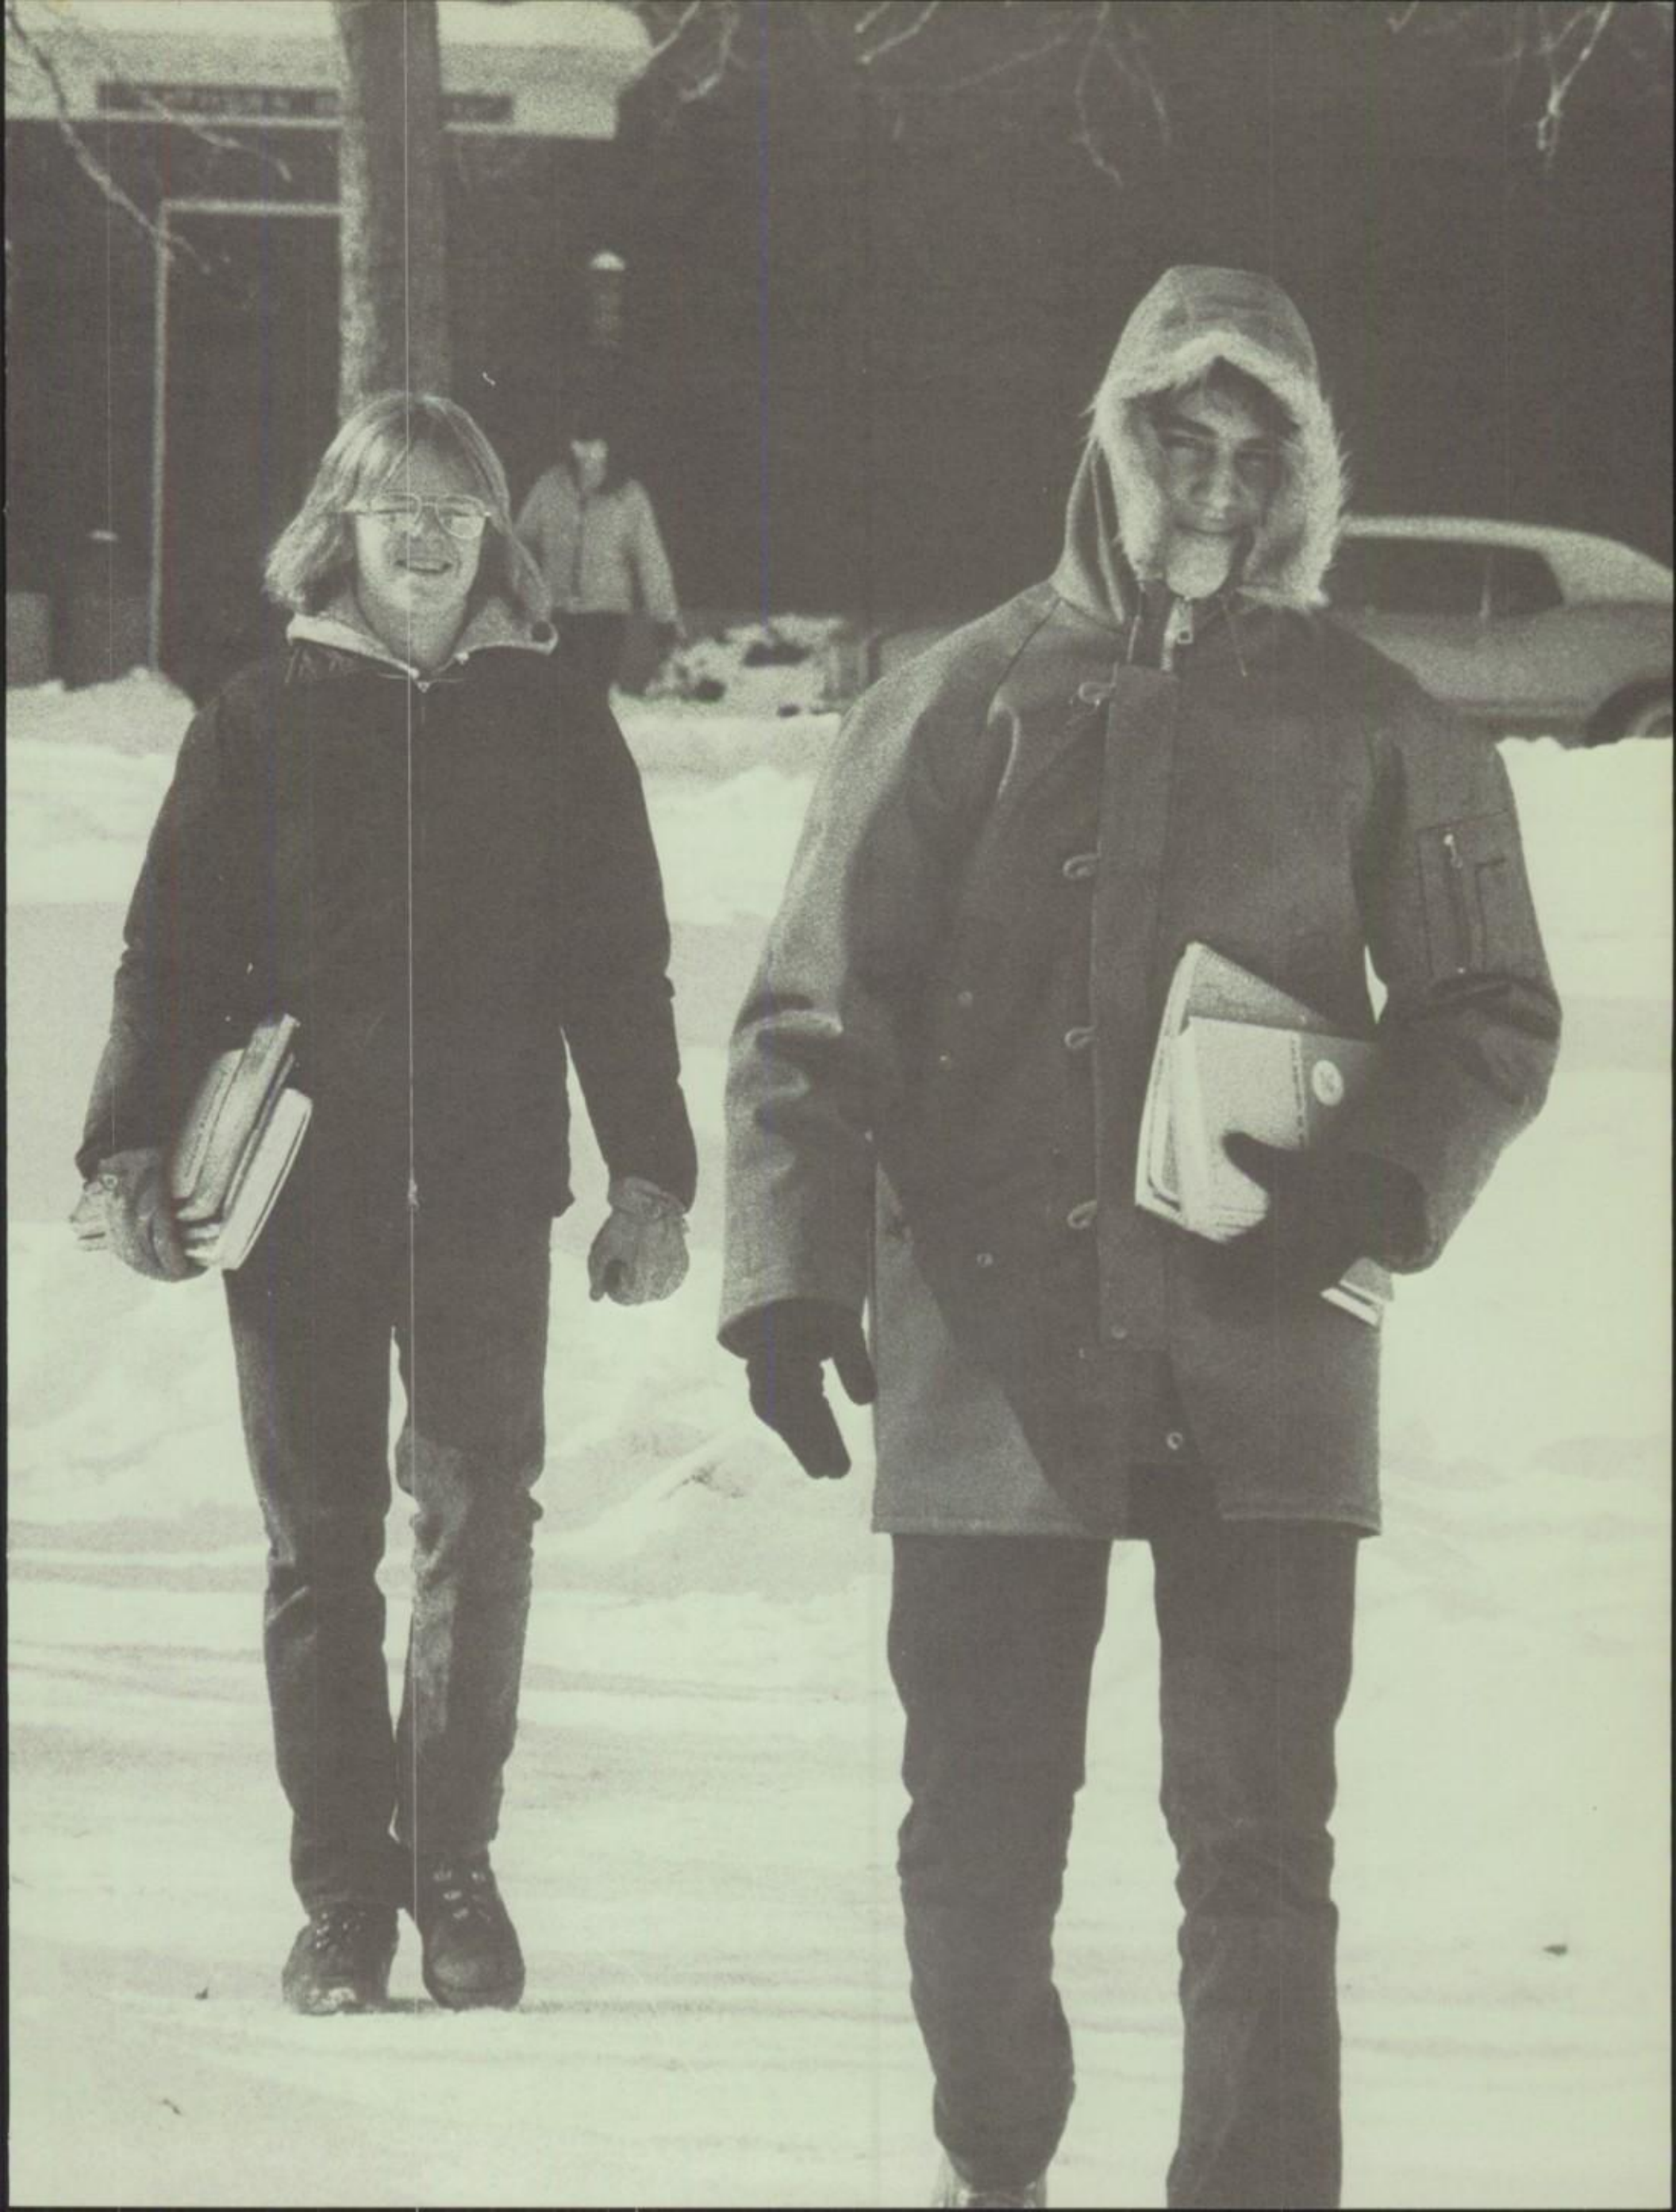
CIRCLE AND LOWER SCHOOL

The House plan offers a special social environment, a small unit in a large school where there is, ideally, respect for the individual, intense pride in academic and athletic achievements, a keen awareness of self and others, and of responsibility. It is an environment where each boy's contribution is important and measurable. And your contribution to the quality of the residential community cannot be overemphasized. Your respect for the rights and interests of others; the restraint you place willingly on your own individuality, your own whims in deference to the community welfare; the active part you take in civilizing your immediate environment – all these build your own character and prepare you for responsible adulthood.



CIRCLE

The house this year was a close-knit group who, with the exception of a few nights of "A-rabing", worked with each other smoothly. Cleve, one might say, reached every facet of the school community. Most notable, however, were the accomplishments at Periwig. With ex-Clevies comprising a majority of this year's council, next year's governing board is almost sure to uphold the tradition.

On the playing field too, we were ever-present. Varsity soccer was bolstered by the presence of Eric Salans and Skip Gilbert, both of whom made all-prep. At present (winter term), Clevies dot the basketball courts, swimming pool, and fencing room, which is maybe the reason we faltered in house sports.

In football, experiencing a large turnout, we looked toward our long-awaited winning season. However, beset by injuries, we did not do nearly as well as we had expected. Even so, we improved our previous year's record and as a rule, we enjoyed it.

Although the house basketball season has not yet started, we have had a few practices, and coached by the ubiquitous "Burt", we should win a few games (knock on a can of grape soda).

At this point, I'd like to mention something about Cleve's housemasters. Added to the ranks this year was Mr. Rowley, who in his first term was faced with the chore of coaching the house soccer team. Trying every possible combination of players, we only managed to win one game for him. Maybe we should have put Doug and Reisfield in the goal at the same time. Well, there's always next season.

The Graupners returned again to Cleve, Mr. Graupner to teach math, coach the house gridmen, and to sit in the common room Friday nights asking confused Rhinies about the mythical girl at the library.

Last, but certainly not least are the Chambers. Although this year was not the twenty-fifth anniversary, I'm sure it nevertheless notched a few more pleasant memories in their long tenure at Lawrenceville.

At the composing of this article, the year is but half over, and of course, new surprises will reveal themselves in the coming months. I regret that I can't record them, so, with the rest of the council, I wish next year's Cleve as an enjoyable experience as was this year.

DICKINSON HOUSE

Jove! What a bully year it has been. The boys have been grand, simply grand. Tarry not here, thou slack-jawed dim-eyed callow youth for this is a house of earnest endeavor and noble ideals.

Permit me to draw your attention to the photograph, gentle reader. We, of course, regret that we could not secure the services of an artist to fully capture the magnificent charm and grace of these splendid fellows. Nevertheless, one would have to be a naive rustic to miss the diffident air and intrinsic quality of the young scions. Note the tilt of the jaw, the insouciant curled lip, the visionary gaze and the impeccable attire. One is, indeed, overwhelmed at the breath-taking scope, the hauteur, the grandeur and the majesty of the spectacle.

It will be noted that some of the less mature, unstable boys were distracted by the crash of a twin-engined Cessna aircraft just to the right of the scene as the picture was being taken. One will also observe that Mr. Tramantano is enormously pleased as he sees that his dog is about to sink his teeth into the photographer's leg.

It has been said that the Dickinson house has been making a spectacle of itself for years and I am afraid we have done it again.

Mr. Ainspac

For the last two years, my existence has been at the mighty Gris. The house itself, the dimly lit, cold brick building, leaves little impression on my mind. But this is not Griswold as I know it. Griswold is a personality, or rather a pot pourri, of personalities that makes up an unforgetable experience. The life at Griswold is not expressed by the ninety-two year old Circle house, but rather by those forty-four boys and four housemasters that live in it. This is where the history of the Griswold house lives.

The stain, Tank, Mc D, Shiller Diller, Freeze, Insidious Sly, Butts Butler, Cigarette Tracy, Doc, Mahone, Foltze, Deadeye, Vince, Buddy, Bones, WEEner, Hard-on Boots, Brightboy, Birdman, Breeze Tangerine, Count Fount, Fatwood-Hey, we forgot Saul! – Let's sacrifice him to the snow gods.

Hey it worked! It's snowing.

Wake up Tracy – I mean Butler. Butler! What are you doing in Tracy's room?

Ruffen-Rhett. They sure do add Southern Comfort to the house (Just like on the banks of the Old Miss).

Bow to the King Load Mahoney.

Oh! Hi Mr. Gerstell. Tanger? Oh, I think He's in his room. Hehe. Why did Harry get a mitten Charlie? Shut up Herold and finish your seed.

No Tank, we don't want the Porta Rican Girls School of New York for our next house mixer.

Hey Mc D., Mr. Smith really does foam at the mouth.

P.S. – Send more Twinkies – KM

What a quig! – who me?

It's decent man, like wow.

Wake up Paul . . . No, I'm not Liz.

How about the girls from the Bronk's Academy? No Tank, Bayless, it's none of your business why Charlie always gets kilo packages from Lebanon.

All right, Shiller, like you say, Scarsdale does have the largest orange groves in the country.

Fountain won the math prize? Oh I see – for Algebra one.

Saul has another bottle for your collection Pete!

I can smell popcorn all the way up on the third floor.

Tracy got a what on his Prob and Stat test?

Paul, cocktails in Randy's room.

Jesus Christ, it's just incredible!

No Weiner, you can't join the fanclub

But Lee, why Mr. Rowley on your dartboard?

Misery, sickness, suffer, scum slash.

Tank's dreams come true – a six foot long hoaggie.

Oh, hi Mr. Gerstell, Tang (hehe)

McDowell and Stain – the even couple.

Hey Wilder, why's Bill walking away so mad?

HUH? Why does Fountain have this fear of closets?

God, Pete, why so many Southern Comfort bottles?

The Griswold house offense. Tanger.

Mr. Smith arrested for reading Santa's mail?

Joel's body building course? I don't know Wess, you'll have to ask him.

John's place in society? questionable.

No, Mc D. – Liz wasn't here. You were dreaming.

How's this for an essay Andy?

P.S. God bless Jeff Chinman

HAMILL HOUSE

Fall 1976, Hamill enters another year. The Regans begin their second year as House parents, Rob Monath succeeds Paul Georgiadis to the house presidency, and Hamill undergoes inevitable changes.

Faces, both new and old, gathered in the common room for the first House meeting. Uncertainty, and apprehension colored many, while others reflected calmness and geniality.

But this year's Hamill was different. Old boys dominate in numbers, and while they seemed familiar, they too had changed. A few inches vertically or horizontally made evident the more obvious changes. Yet, they had changed more subtly in the abstract, mental sense.

Students learned names, opened books, and seasoned their rooms with a touch of individuality; facades dissolved and friendships solidified. In time, the abstract changes became more apparent. House spirit intensified. Spirit that combined with the fine coaching efforts of Masters Regan, Miller, and Caswell victoriously saw Hamill through house football and the championship, and that later carried us to equal glory in house soccer.

While a strong sense of dedication prevailed, an underlying awareness of individuality frequently surfaced, and when Mike Parrill's humor failed, as it often did, numerous other Hamillites provided opportunities for emotional expression. In fact, so frequently did such opportunities occur that I spent a whole evening just observing them. Incidently, at one point in the evening, Mr. Caswell stepped out of his apartment and quietly and politely said,

"Ed, could you please hold the noise down?"

At any rate, Bruce Kligerman continued his on going campaign for the Fresh Air Fund. Heating bills, we argued, increased as a result. Poor Bruce! Meanwhile, Mr. Miller continued his unending quest for the Long Lost Barmaid, while Mark Flood took off to marry some Irish gal from Mountainside. Brian Bilby solemly vowed to write, edit, and publish the world's first and foremost complete encyclopedia of Trivia. John Topping moonlighted as a topless dancer, while John Arrington and Jeff Embersits spent their idle hours trying to invent the fail-safe pooper scooper for Jake the Cat. David Marx set a record for missing check-in. He frequently lost his way back from dinner. By residing safely in room twenty for the entire year, (that's the old Patch-Robinson room at the far end of the corridor, with cross-ventilation), the Levenson-Burford duo managed to break the infamous jinx. Baby Bull spared the house walls this year; they survived the entire year without a single hole. And then, of course, there is Bobby O who consistently hung with the Hamill house jet set . . .

And so life continued at Hamill, constantly changing, usually, but not always, for the better. As the year ends, we are amazed by the sharply contrasting differences that exist between what we were at the beginning and what we are now. Thank you to Hamill and especially to the people of Hamill for fostering these changes and seeing us through them.

KENNEDY HOUSE

Although Kennedy's house athletic standing didn't match its previous record, the house was full of spirit, possibly too much spirit, and still leading many other houses. Dorgan and Brieg always seemed to have an abundance of "house spirit", and everyone always had enough energy to tell Linsk to quiet down. The house loved to do things together, from a pile-on in the T.V. room to a friendly game of something in the Circle. Kennedyites always assembled en mass to the call of brownies or cookies so graciously prepared by Mrs. Schonheiter, Mrs. Moore, or Mrs. Magee. Kennedy remained unified and strong throughout the year, dissolving any barriers between the third and fourth forms, old boys and rhinies.

The survival of the house depends upon good leaders, and this year's council and masters kept the house running smoothly. Kennedy obtained a new asset with the addition of Mr. Moore and his wife, whose existence in the house was much enjoyed by everyone. Although we missed having Mr. Porter on duty and his yelling at Boo Boo, his presence was still greatly appreciated as he coached the Kennedy house football squad. Kennedy would like to thank Mr. Satty and Mr. Magee for keeping us laughing and continuing tradition by yelling at Boo Boo. We would like to give special thanks to Mr. Schonheiter and "mom" for their guidance and devotion of time which made our stay at Kennedy something to cherish.

WOODHULL HOUSE

First row: Mr. Doyle, Ana Atlee, Mrs. Atlee, Mr. Atlee, Mr. Johnston. Second row: Di Buono, Smith, Gould, Scardino, Johnson, Rosoff, Sandground, Coppe, Henning, Friedman, Palmer, Pujadas, Stauffer, Stillwell, Pitrone. Third row: Di Capua, Knoll, Reese, Abstow, Davies, Smythe, Wong, Lapp, Scanlan, Cilleran, Hirsch, Miles. Fourth row: Lieisure, Hibbert, Stanley, Schwartzkopf, Jenks, Copa, Steffens, Morgan, Mcdowell, Murphy, Fischer, Schattman, Ellis, Arnett, Lipton. Fifth row: Werblow, Gallagher, Embersits, Steinhour, Rabii, Holcombe, Lee, Schluter, Haymaker, Wexler, Hwa, Dawson, Espy, Groux.

This year, Woodhull raised itself out of the catacombs of the past with a glorious football season coached by the "Champ". The house is pleased to welcome the transient Mr. Doyle. Hopefully, his prospective excursion around the Circle will terminate here. Of course, no one can find fault with our talented faculty lineup: the literary T.J. Johnston, the music man, Mr. Lauffer, Mrs. Atlee, alias the seemstress in distress, and naturally, that great lover of animals who is partial to stray cats and BIG dogs, Mr. Atlee.

This year, Woodhull would like to present a newly founded award, donated by last year's alumnus, Joe Fabitz, which is to be presented to the person or persons who have maintained Woodhull's highest standard in the field of fashion throughout the year. By an early decision, our highest accolaids go to two magnetic dressers, P.C., Paul Coppe (not to be confused with Pierre Cardin) and Aldo Gucci's greatest salesman Mark B. Sandground. Congratulations! Another achievement worthy of praise goes to the Seagram "7" (with Steve Ember . . . on percussion). They sang a fine medley of songs ranging from "White Christmas" to "What's the Buzz, Tell me what's a happening". We also have a follow up on last year's Club Woodhull menu:

Skinless and Boneless Sardines and Sweet and Sour Steinhauer.
Roast Long Island Crane stuffed with Gunk Stauffer's Chicken Laugger
Noodles Rossonoff
Russell Sprouts
Uncle Bill's Wild Mongoloid Rice
One Doyle Pineapple talking very fast
Coppe au Lait

The house has managed to live in reasonable harmony. Rewarding graffiti about Jack Lee or simply an eye-popping glance at "Bigfoot's" big feet have made time fly (it's cool, it's cool). The old boys would like to wish next year's house equal success.

THEN said a teacher, Speak to us of Teaching.

And he said:

No man can reveal to you aught but that which already lies half asleep in the dawning of your knowledge.

The teacher who walks in the shadow of the temple, among his followers, gives not of his wisdom but rather of his faith and his lovingness.

If he is indeed wise he does not bid you enter the house of his wisdom, but rather leads you to the threshold of your own mind.

For the vision of one man lends not its wings to another man.

And even as each one of you stands alone in God's knowledge, so must each one of you be alone in his knowledge of God and in his understanding of the earth.

"The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena – whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood . . . who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions – and spends himself in a worthy cause – who at best if he wins knows the thrills of high achievement – and if he fails at least fails while daring greatly – so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat."

Theodore Roosevelt

Season's Record – 6-2

Throughout the fall of 1976 whenever the word "tradition" was mentioned on the Lawrenceville campus, people immediately assumed it referred to football. In 1976, football WAS Lawrenceville's traditional celebrating an unprecedented 100 years of football, the varsity team, under the masterful direction of Dr. Kenneth Keuffel, posted an impressive 6-2 record and, in the process, justified its privilege of being Lawrenceville's centennial team.

Playing such traditional rivals as Deerfield, Andover, and Choate, the Red and Black won six consecutive games after an opening loss to Penn Charter. Boasting of a consistently tenacious defense, the Larries shutout Deerfield (21-0) and Choate (23-0) and held its opponents to only 125 points in eight games. Led by hard-hitting Linebackers Slater Kirby and Orazio Lattanzi, the Larrie defense held six opponents to two touchdowns of less, and in the process, accumulated two safeties and returned two interceptions for touchdowns.

The offense, led by fullback Bob Castelo and captains Kevin Ellis and Billy Harrison, scored nineteen touchdowns during the season. Castelo, a fourth former from Hamill, led the team with eight touchdowns rushes and Ellis, the team's tailback, led with five touchdown passes. Although not as consistent as the defense, the Larries' offense displayed its potential versus Williamson Trade (21-13) and Peddie (34-14) by implementing "ball control" and gaining over two hundred fifty yards offense in both contests.

In their opening game against Penn Charter, the Red and Black traveled to Philadelphia with aspirations for and undefeated, untied season. But the Churchmen, who eventually enjoyed one of their finest seasons in years, subdued the Larries hopes in a convincing victory, (30-14). By compiling over two hundred yards rushing and, at the some time, scoring four touchdowns, Penn Charter controlled the momentum throughout the contest.

Seven days later, in Deerfield, Massachusetts, the Red and Black avenged last year's 7-6 loss by crushing the "Big Green" 21-0. Behind an alert and aggressive defensive secondary consisting of Dave Reynolds, Clancy, Harrison, and Ellis, the Larrie defense proved inpenetrable by intercepting three errant Deerfield passes. Bob Castelo, playing in his debut as a varsity performer, scored two touchdowns and gained an impressive 73 yards to lead the Larries' offense.

In their home opener versus Germantown Academy, the Larries had to rely on an impromtu four yard touchdown run late in the final period by Kevin Ellis to salvage victory. Behind 13-7, Ellis moved the team the length of the field with passes to Frank Pastuck, Harrison, and Clancy. With less than three minutes remaining and the ball resting on the four year line, Ellis set-up to pass, was rushed by a Germantown defender, scrambled out of the pocket, and raced around the end, untouched for the clinching score. Place kicker John Blomfield added his most important point-after-touchdown of the season and the Red and Black conquered Germantown, 14-13.

On October 16, in a game designed to commemorate Lawrenceville's football centennial, the Larries celebrated by surrounding Andover, a rival since 1894, 16-14. The margin of victory came late in the game when Andover, unable to move the ball successfully, was forced to punt from deep in their own territory. The snap from Andover's center was high, the punter mishandled it, and ball bounced elusively out of the end zone, giving the Larries a safety and the victory.

The Red and Black's next opponent was a surprisingly pugnacious Williamson Trade Team. Rhinie tailback Doug Dutchyshyn, enjoying his best game as a Lawrentian, kept the Larries in the ballgame by running for two fourth period touchdowns. With fifty-six seconds remaining and the score tied at 13-13, Dutchyshyn added his second touchdown by racing forty yards on a reverse play to insure a come-from-behind victory, 21-13.

Traveling to Hightstown to renew their annual rivalry with Peddie, the Larries improved their record to 5-1 by trouncing the hapless Peddie Falcons, 34-14. The highlights of the contest come during the second quarter when defensive backs Fick Clancy and Mark Flood both returned interceptions for touchdowns.

A week later, on November 6, playing before a capacity Parent's Day crowd, the Red and Black played their finest game of the season by annihilating Choate, 23-0. In the interest of avenging last year's controversial loss, the Larries accumulated 191 yards rushing and, at the same time, held Choate to a meager 71 yards. Pacing the Red and Black, fullback Bob Castelo gained one hundred and four yards rushing on twenty-five carries and scored all three Lawrenceville touchdowns.

But, as the old adage goes, "all good things must come to an end" and for the Larries it did. Playing against the most talented Hill team in the decade, the Red and Black dropped their second game of the season, this one by the humiliating score of 41-8. Unable to move the ball consistently and unable to thwart the powerful Hill attack, the Larries lost their first game to Hill since 1966. Dr. Keuffel commented that "no one involved with the team ever remembered a loss or even a close game with Hill. It was not a lack of effort; we just weren't ready."

But centennial season, despite the losses to Penn Charter and Hill, was unequivocally a tremendous success. Dr. Keuffel, when commenting on the season, said, "It was a very good season. The boys made tremendous achievements and had excellent spirit. I think the most important factor in the teams success was it's consistency on both offense and defense." An eloquent testimony for the continuity of football at Lawrenceville for another one hundred years.

Season's Record 11-1-4

The season started slowly for the 1976 varsity soccer team, but it soon became apparent that this years squad would be something special. With an abundance of talent present, coaches King and Caswell moulded a group of twenty individuals into the most successful soccer team in Lawrenceville history – a team that would obtain a final record of 11-1-4 and would become sole possessor, for the first time in almost a decade, of the New Jersey Independent School State Soccer crown.

Dedication and desire varied among King's Kickers. Soon, though, certain cohesive forces transformed the booters into a closely knit squad that had no limit as to how much it could do and how far it could go. Unfortunately, however, the team usually ended up playing catch-up soccer, and not until the last quarter of each game did the Larrie soccer stars begin to noticably out play their opponents. They rose to the occasion to score in the final minutes of their contest and manage a tie against no. three ranked in the state, Ewing High School, while lowering themselves to a disappointing 1-1 deadlock against a weak Hopewell Valley team. The talent was there, however and never failed to appear, it just took a while to get generated.

In the first few games of the season, the Larries seemed sluggish both on offense and defense, and earned a two week record of one tie, two wins by narrow margins, and an overwhelming defeat at the hands of Steinert High School. After that contest, Coaches King and Caswell instituted a new 4-2-4 line-up to make use of the powerful forwards and to strengthen the previously flat defense. The fullbacks gave up virtually nothing for the rest of the season, and the forward line began to consistantly score when needed, allowing Lawrenceville to go the remaining twelve games without a single loss. This new arrangement and a previously unseen team unity gave the varsity the edge in numerous matches versus the team's arch rivals. Choate, Hill, Princeton Day School, and Pingry twice could not outscore and consequently vanquish the Larrie eleven, making for an enjoyable as well as prosperous season.

The culmination of this 1976 fabulous fall soccer spree came in the middle of November when Lawrenceville finally procurred and became sole owner of the coveted N.J.I.S.A.A. soccer championship, a feat that a John King squad had never accomplished before. In the semi-finals, the Red and Black met previously beaten by Lawrenceville Newark Academy. Down 1-0 in the first quarter, Big Red stormed back and tied it late in the game on a beautiful goal by Eric Salans. Then with only eight seconds remaining in regulation time, a picture perfect direct kick by Richard Casner to Salan's head tickled the twine for the victory. Had it not been for the mighty efforts of those two players the Larries might well have lost the match, for the rules state that if the score is tied at the end of regulation and two overtime periods the team with the fewest corner kicks against them wins. Lawrenceville was down in that category, 4-3.

In the finals, the mighty Red machine met Pingry (also previously beaten by the Red Raiders) in a game that would decide the state championship. As usual, the foe tallied first and looked as though it might win. With scarcely fifty seconds remaining in the game, Greg Lauffer rippled the nets to tie the game at 1-1. Wayne Meisel was credited with a "blustering" assist. Now rallied, Lawrenceville needed only forty seconds of the first overtime period to clinch the victory. Throwing the ball in towards the net from deep in enemy territory, Meisel ran in to accept his own assist by mangling the mesh from the six yard line. King's kickers had finally found a seat on the Prep soccer throne of New Jersey, and in doing so, the soccer superstars secured a simply smashing successful season. All Hail the Kings!

The players on the '76 squad were perhaps the most skilled group in recent years, but the team was not a group of individuals. A seldom seen cohesiveness and unity among teammates proved to be a vital part of Lawrenceville's success.

In goal, it was Skip Gilbert with help from Jon Silverman who paved the way to many a victory. Skip richly deserved his nominations to both the all-county and all-state soccer teams, and Jon's enthusiasm and hustle in both games and practice is truly commendable. Protecting them was the stalwart fullback line that served as the Great Wall of China on defense and the generator of goals on offense. An always awesome foursome was picked from five able bodied seniors. Scott Masters' hustle, speed, and love for the game was always present while Harry Irwin excelled at long kicking and ball dribbling. Dave Shillaber matured into the epitome of a defender's defender as is evident by his nomination to the all-county team, while Peter Simpson stalwarted in his aggressiveness, speed, and ball handling prowess. Dave Barnes possessed some skill, some speed, and terrible alliterations.

Running like gazelles and kicking, passing, and dribbling like Pélé sextuplets, the halfbacks, Rich Coomber, Tom Hart, Sam Fussell, Chris Metcalf, and Mike Hallaker, served as the mediators between the fullbacks and the linemen; and did more than their share of game winning for the Larries. Rich Coomber unfortunately had his season ended abruptly with a severe knee injury, but while he played, his skill and enthusiasm combined for two consecutive game winning goals against Hun and Hopewell Valley. Co-Captain Sam Fussell possesses enough skill, hustle, and love for the game to have taught Kyle Rote Jr. how to play; and rightfully deserved his all-county and all-state nominations. Tom Hart followed close on Fussell's heels with the same talents abounding. Mike Hallaker, Wayne Meisel, and Chris Metcalf all had their share of great plays, saw considerable action, and served as integral parts of the team.

Booting their way to many a Lawrenceville victory was the ominous Big Red offensive line. No matter what the situation, the fighting front four always seemed to come up with the needed tally. Wings Peter Fish, Rich Casner, Peter Allen, and Kip Nawn sprinted the sidelines in truly professional fashion. Fish excelled in ball chipping, dribbling, and primal grunts and groans. Casner's aggressive nature, speed, and shot, Nawn's determination and skill, and Allen's hustle and quickness added much to Lawrenceville's scoring potential. Strikers Greg Lauffer, Eric Salans, and Kip Sparrow were the bread and butter of the front line and commanded a high goals per game quota. Co-Captain Lauffer and Salans were the most potent scorers and without them, the team could never have gone as far as it did. Both were all-county players. Kip Sparrow possessed a deadly shot in addition to great potential.

The epitaph of the 1976 varsity soccer team is a happy one, and will be written in the annals of Lawrenceville school history as one of the greatest and most successful ever. Coaches King and Caswell are extremely proud of this year's squad, as the team is grateful to and proud of them. Without their expert guidance and never-ending patience, the squad could never have reached its full potential.

The future? It can only be bright.

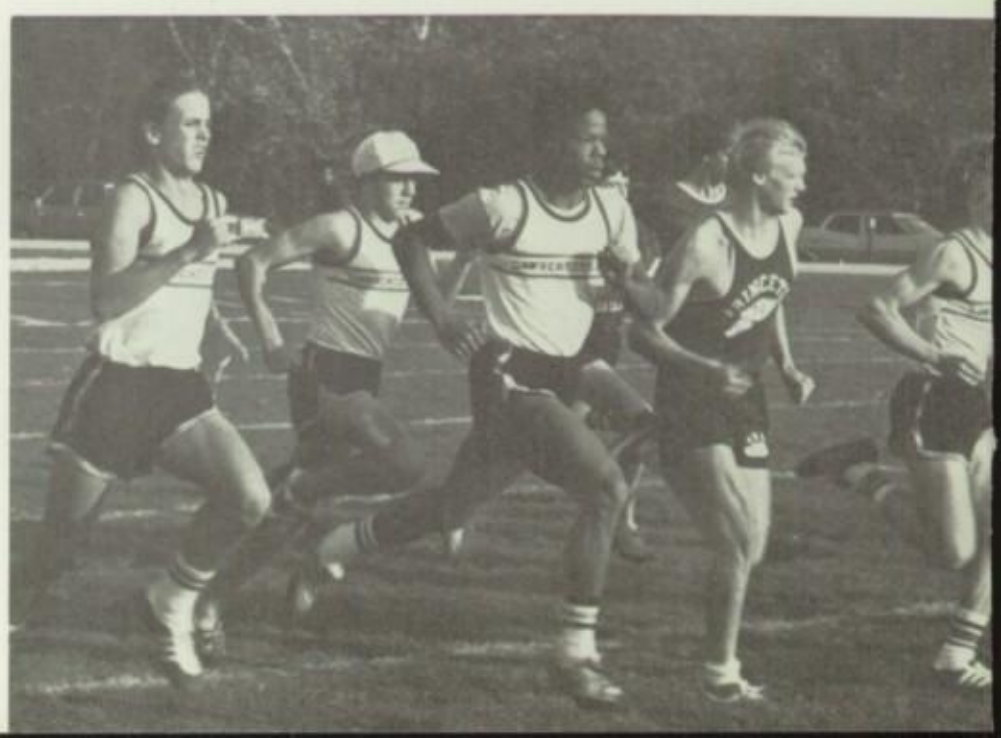
It was a season I will always remember. We weren't undefeated, we didn't win the state championship, and, in fact, after all the running was over, Coach Poreda quietly admitted that the team he had predicted to be "awesome" had been a little bit of a disappointment. Yet the success of a team can't always be accurately gauged by its record. We were not the best team that has ever strode its way across the golf course, but if ever there was a team that had a better time I don't know of it. We worked hard day after day after day and out of this came a sense of accomplishment and pride and the developing of friendships that made the pain and the disappointment not quite so bitter.

We started out with a fizzle. The Edison Invitational overwhelmed us. We were sixth in a twenty team division. Rationalizing, I could argue that unlike our public school counterparts, we had been running together for only three days. Undaunted, we went out and crushed our next two dual meet opponents: Blair and Ewing both by shut-outs; 15-50. (A shut-out means our first seven men finished before their first runner completed the course). Disaster struck at Steinert. Confidence to the point of cocky, we arrived in Hamilton Square to discover that Steinert had switched courses on us. Now our task involved traversing a moto-cross course complete with a forty foot deep "pit" that did a real job on quadraceps. The start was even auspicious. Steinert's coach unable, on three occasions running, to fire a gun, had to resort to blowing a whistle. When the dust had settled, literally, we had lost by one point, 28-27. Confidence destroyed, we went to Hunterdon Central expecting to lose to a team that, at the end of the season, be ranked in the top ten teams of New Jersey, and did lose, ignobly, 17-40. We regained pride and positive thinking by winning the Canterbury School Invitational. In doing so, we beat the best of the north eastern prep schools, including the likes of Choate, Andover, Hotchkiss and Deerfield. It was not nearly as easy as it sounds; we got lost successively (successfully?) in Manhattan, the Bronx, New Medford, and Medford. We arrived thirty minutes before race time, non-chalantly stretched out, jogged a mile of the course, lined up, and went out and won a pretty big meet. Professionalism is one word that comes to mind, but perhaps now it doesn't mean much (other than intense cupidity).

Back on the dual meet front, we continued to roll over any challengers. We shut-out Princeton High School. Dan Challener broke the school course record on that cold, blustery day. We traveled to scenic Elizabeth for our next invitational, the 27th Memorial Meet.



Our fifth place finish might sound mediocre, ut there is little doubt that this was one of ur finest efforts. We beat some of New Jer- ey's and New York's finest squads on a course ve had never seen and in a meet that favors he team that runs in these big affairs often. he start of this 32 team tussle gives the finest efinition of an archy America has to offer. 224 oys, clad in t-shirts and shorts, sprinting cross a barren field in slightly above freezing veather, all attempting a 270 degree turn after quarter mile.

Next we invaded Metuchen and inspired by aw weather, demolished a strong team. On he run, we then destroyed Peddie an Trenton n a tri-meet 17-46 and 17-45 and finished off Hamilton 17-44. We journeyed to Media Penn- ylvania for the Meridith Invitational, arrived n time with out getting lost and still won the our team contest. Our appointment with des- iny, the State meet now loomed ahead. Some- ow on that fateful Wednesday in November, hings just didn't work out. From the gun, a all's work seemed in vain as Delbarton's run- ers established perfect position and simply an away from us. Excuses and rationalizing are vorthless; we got beat. Like in all good bet ime tales, ours doesn't end on a negative not. Ve finished our season by squeeking by the Hill School, 27-30.

A team is made up of individuals; all of ours leserve mention. Brian Fleming ran second nan until injury struck late in October. His omeback saved the day at Hill. Andy Clarke nd Tony Long came on like houses of fire as he fall season began to slip away. Randy inished fourth twice and fifth twice in the last neets, while Tony ran in the sixth and seventh lots. Kirk Baird was an inspiration to all nov- ces and a pain in the side to all who've vorked hard and fall. With no more ex- perience in competitive running than Marcel Marceau has in cutting records, Kirk came out or the team, made it, and consistantly finished n the top six. John Bowe and Jim Parmele competed week after week for the number four spot on the team. The two sophomores were steady and experienced far beyond their years. They are proof that Lawrenceville track will endure. Dan Challener had, by some eyes, a great season, but by others' it was a disappointment. He placed first in every meet and set three course records, yet in the really big invitationals he just couldn't get to the front, finishing in the ten to fifteen area. At the smaller Canterbury, Meridith and State meets he managed but third thrice. Doug Ivison finally floomed into a first class runner this season. By fall's end he was solidly implanted in the number two spot, running with a smooth and carefree motion that can only foretell positive things for the future. Finally Ed Gibson, Boyd McKoane, and Matt Ryan all contributed important efforts in our close meets. In any other year they would be sporting a major "L" sweater for their work, but this year we couldn't find a place for them.

We weren't awesome and were "a bit disappointing" but in another sense, as a team and as a group of individuals, we were more than a success, we were a team to remember.

This fall water-polo entered the ranks of varsity sports and perhaps Coach Wilder best summarized the season when he said, "We started off this season like any first year team, thinking we knew quite a lot and learning very quickly that we didn't. And then we settled into the hard work of learning that we needed to know."

Although water-polo did not have a winning season, we compiled an earnest 3-5 season that was more noted for its highlights and steady progress. Who can forget those beautiful fall afternoons we sacrificed for those titillating practices in a 68 degree pool under the relentless whip-cracking of Coach Wilder? And Dan Menichella's remarkable backhand shot in the Peddie game that left the crowd and the players stupified when they realized he had scored for the opposing team.

As far as the games were concerned, well, we survived a less-than enjoyable encounter with Lower Moreland and readily gave state-champ Montclair a match they were hardly equipped for. And alas, the Mercersberg game with that intimidating Lawrenceville defense which shut out the Blue Devils in the final quarter to win our most exciting game of the season. In retrospect, there was a great deal more to our record than just statistics; there was a growth of unity and diligence that culminated in pride.

	Season's Record – 10-11

A season-ending loss to Hun in the NJISAA prep finals ended a somewhat uneven season for the varsity cagers. The bright spots often overshadowed as the potentially talented team was troubled by intra-squad dissension and an occasional inability to play team ball.

Led by captain and leading scorer Jeff Hager and six foot six center Dick Eydt, the team completed the season with a record of 10 wins and 11 losses. Hager directed the offense, averaging over eighteen points per game, while Eydt, along with Dana Nini, garnered the rebounds. Besides these three, the starting lineup consisted of Rick Clancy and Kevin Ellis.

The team ran into trouble even before the season started when Eydt broke his left hand. Starting at the center in the first few games, therefore, was six foot five Don Vereen. Vereen, however, upset at the way the team was being run, quit the team in protest. As a result, Eydt had no capable backup in the pivot. Despite the troubles, the team still accomplished some impressive victories, including a 79-73 victory over Peddie, and, in perhaps their finest game of the season, a 62-58 win against an excellent Hamilton High School team.

Unfortunately, the Larries ran into some solid competition along the way. St. Anthony (70-55), Hun (71-55), Mt Herman (87-51), and Trenton High (84-68) all posted resounding triumphs over the red and black.

In the state semi-finals Lawrenceville annihilated Pingry (65-40), but in the finals Hun once again proved too tough, taking the state crown by a 78-60 score.

Season's Record – 8-16

Nomatter how you slice it, 8-16 is disappointing – but we did have a squad of goodkids with several gifted individuals, most of whose morale and determination remained amazingly strong in spite of the numerous setbacks. We had gone after the toughest schedule we could get. Our wins were few and far between but they were cherished and three big ones at the end of the season made some tangible regard for this team's efforts.

The fifth formers of this year's squad were all of equal ability, but none was of star calibre. They, plus the underformers, made up a large squad of moderate ability. We had balance and depth, but it was difficult to come up with the most effective combinations and to give everybody satisfactory game time.

A pre-season knee injury and operation slowed down Will Sparrow for much of the season, but he worked hard and began to produce towards the end. Chris Burchfield had some spectacular games and was instrumental in our big wins and in keeping up team-spirit. Glenn Willard was a great hustler and developed into an excellent defensive wing. Ray Sphire worked hard and effectively at both defense and forward. Dave Barnes had some big games and showed flashes of brilliance. Throughout the season, Kip Nawn had outstanding effort and was our leading scorer til felled by appendicitis four games from the end. Richard Casner was an offensive threat and came through with some big goals especially at the end. Dudley Fitzpatrick and Peter Fish were among our best playmakers, and Frank Pastuck with a big rugged defenseman who had some fine games, particularly at the end.

In the season opener, we beat Wintersport, a club team from Philadelphia, in overtime 463 and then enjoyed our hosts' super hospitality in a local restaurant. We thought the Junior Flyers were strong when they bombed us 1-8, but Hotchkiss was even better as they out-everythinged us in a Saturday night game at Lavino, 1-9.

A third straight pasting came at the hands of Belmont Hill in the first game of the Tournament, 0-5. However, we were able to pull ourselves together and, to the surprise of many, went right after Upper Canada with three first period goals and hung on for a great 4-3 win. The next day we lost our lustre and a very close game to Nichols 3-5. Trinity Pawling won the championship beating Belmont Hill in an overtime thriller.

After vacation and off on the second of our New England trip, we played well for most of the game and were not ashamed of the 1-5 loss to strong T-P. After the game, one of the vans got stuck in the snow. It was to be a team effort to shoveland push it out. After an hour of futile work, one wag remarked, "Well, we're now 2-8." We finally did get out and as usual enjoyed T-P hospitality. The next day moved on to Taft. Here we were able to contain their potent first line and Burchfield was stupendous, so that at the end of two periods Taft only lead 2-3. We came out with a rush with three quick goals and Taft was able to score only one at the buzzer – 5-4! It was a sweet win and in the locker room euphoria, someone shouted, "We don't have to say 'remember Upper Can da' anymore."

The trip to West Point was going to be another interesting trip to the Academy, but it seemed doubtful that we could win as the Army J.V.'s were reported strong, having taken Hill into overtime and having beaten Hotchkiss. But we went right after them with three first period goals. Super-goalie Burchfield kept making the big save with octopus like limbs and we ended up on top (4-2) with Nawn getting two goals and Barnes notching four points. The Cadets were a better team, but this time we got the breaks. We had played well enough to win, deserved it – and it was about time the puck started to go in for us.

We had been looking forward to the Hamden Hall visit. Friday night they beat PDS 3-1. That same night Nawn came down with appendicitis, but we had a secret weapon in Glenn Willard whom we attached to Hamden's big star. Glenn shut him out and we went on to a 4-1 win. We played very good hockey and this was indeed a gratifying afternoon.

We thought we were on our way to an unprecedented third straight victory, but were beaten 2-5 by an all-star team from Philadelphia Suburban High School League. They had some very good talent and broke open a 2-2 tie on three third period goals. We also lost III form standout David Fitzgerald with a sprained ankle. He had had an excellent year and was just getting the scoring touch.

To start the PDS tournament, we played Hill, and though they beat us again, 2-5, we played them even for long stretches. It was one of our best efforts, and Willard did another fine joy on their leading scorer. The next day we won the fubber match from PDS 4-1, with Burch missing a shut out by five seconds. We skated hard, played effectively, and dominated the game. We looked very good in the finale. Hill won the tourney by beating Williston, 9-1.

Over the season we had lost to some in ferior teams, but we had beaten some superior teams and made a strong effort in games in which we were outgunned. Overall, the team played about as well as they could.

Next year's captain will be Shaun Kennedy. He had some excellent games, hustled consistently and worked hard on some good natural talent. He should be a fine leader. Glenn Scanlan, probably our most improved player, will be assistant captain.

We were sorry to lose Mr. Bob Regan, who was such a great help coaching the varsity the last two years, to family, teaching, and the Hamill House. However, we were lucky and happy to have Mr. Tucker Meyer step right in and do a terrific job. His knowledge of the game, his expertise, and enthusiasm were major factors in the fact that this team kept plugging away and improving so that by the end of the season they were a pretty darned good hockey team.

Season's Record 12-0

What can one write about a team that won all twelve of its dual meets, ten of them by more than twenty-five points, a state championship, six of the eight events in its own invitational relays meet, and broke three indorr school records? A great deal, no doubt. Newspaper clippings alone run over four pages, statistics and totals run another eight. To summarize a truly great team in a page or two does great injustice to many very talented and dedicated athletes.

On the eleventh day of December, we began our long march towards March by decimating Hopewell Valley and Metuchen High Schools in a triangular meet. Doug Ivison ran away from Mercer County's number one and most highly heralded harrier, Paul Shivers, beating him in the mile by a convincing five seconds. Almost a month later, we trounced a Hapless Hightstown squad. Tony Long, who at year's end would receive a Superman t-shirt for his efforts, accounted for over a quarter of the team's points by winning the hurdles in 7.7, the high jump in 6'½ and the long jump in 20'2''¾, and the then anchored the victorious mile relay team. Four days later, Lawrenceville moved by the Inter-Ac All-Stars (stars from four Philadelphia areas prep schools) as Peter Allen took second places in the 60 yard dash and the long jump. A Hamilton High team that had defeated us last winter got destroyed when they returned this year. Lawrenceville won every single event and Ed Gibson blazed a 2:03.5 half mile to win that race.

On a cold, snowy, Wednesday, Rancocas Valley Regional High School entered the field house and met a cocky home team. In less than three hours' time, it looked like a season had been ruined – defeat imminent for the Red and Black, but some last minute heroics by Pete Allen in the long jump and a spectacular 3:37.0 mile relay victory meet (48-47) and the perfect season. Recovering from the shock we crushed both Ewing and Peddie by more than 60 points. In the former, Soph John Bowe won the two mile in 10:17.7 and in the latter Louis Phillips came from behind to win the 440 in 54.8.

Steinert High School, the squad that had ruined our cross country season was properly punished for its transgressions late in January by the score of 69-26 tally. Rubbing salt into the wound, an ex-greenie Brian Fleming, won the mile run in 4:35.9. A tri-meet against Blair and Pingry offered little to worry about. With this inner tranquility, Dick Shanaman calmly broke the school's seven year old indoor pole vault record with a sterling 13'1"½ vault.

Usually, the best of hosts, Lawrenceville turned inhospitable at the Seventh Annual Lavino Relays. We won all but two of the relays and just about any team member who could run came away from the meet with at least one trophy. A sprint medley team of Tony Long, Pete Allen, Carl Haywood, and Dan Challener recorded a 3:40.7 clocking a time that was the seventh best recorded in the U.S. all winter. Delbarton, the team that had beaten Lawrenceville in the state cross country finals, lost a reasonably close match by a 67-50 score. Bob Castelo unleashed a 48'10" shot put toss, a distance he would better by over two feet with tiie, to eke out a needed victory in that event. Three days later we went on to decimate Hill on Father's Day — an almost himilitating defeat for our arch-rival, yet Hill did retain some semblance of pride when Tim Quinlin snuck by Kirk Baird to win the two mile and ruin Kirk's stellar 10:13.7 effort.

At the Lawrence Jaycee meet, Lawrenceville finally displayed some of its talent to the local press. We took a fourth in the mile relay, Brian Fleming placed third in the mile, Ed Poreda earned a silver medal in the pole voult, but the spotlight belonged to Dan Challener. Dan defeated the area's finest quarter miler Darell Jeffress in Dan's specialty, the half mile. The winning time, 1:55.8 was not only the fastest time to be recorded in the state all winter, but also the fastest half mile run in the United States all winter. Cruising on, Lawrenceville dismantled the Landon school's squad, 86-9, as Billy Harrison blitzed a 6.9 in the 60 yard dash and Paul Zingerini a 54.9 quarter mile.

The 26th NJISAA indoor track championship with teams from Delbarton Blair, Pingry, Peddie, Newark Academy, and host Lawrenceville, quickly degenerated into a dual meet between the home team and Delbarton. With gold medal performances by Long in the 60 yard high hurdles (7.8) and the high jump 6'3", Doug Ivison in the mile (4:31) and Dan Challener (1:58.6), silver medal efforts from Long in the 440 and Bob Castelo in the shot put (50'10"), and bronze medal from Mickey Bowden in the high hurdles, Brian Fleming in the mile, Ed Gibson in the half, Jim Parmele in the two mile, Lawrenceville still had to rely on a third place mile relay finish to eke out a 50-47 state championship.

By 6:00 on March 27, it was all over. A tremendous year was over Indubitively this was one of the finest teams in Lawrenceville history. It was blessed with super-stars to be sure, but also increible depth. In this resume, (much too long the editors tell me) no mention has been made of such varsity performers as: Uwe Beirer, Bruce Bilow, Colin Carpi, Sal Astarita, Skip Gilbert, Craig Grayson, Rob Littel, Nelson Lam, Ed Poreda, Eric Salans, Jon Servis, Roger Steffens, Tim Ufert, or Mark Woodford. In another year they would be the stars of a very strong team, but this wasn't another year, it was THE YEAR!

N.J.I.S.A.A. 2nd
Easterns 6th
Season's Record – 5-3-1

This winter the Lawrenceville Swim Team entered their season with a sense of pride, determination, and competitiveness. As a result, they compiled a earnest 5-3-1 dual meet record, secured a second place in the state meet and a sixth place in the Easterns against some of the finest high school competition in the country.

Coached by Art Schonheiter and aided by Phil Pratt, this year's squad included 11 seniors, many of whom have swum together for the last three or four seasons. This year offered many new challenges for Schonie's speedsters, for this was the year that they put everything together and compete with the likes of national schoolboy powerhouses Peddie and Mercersburg. Realizing this, the team embarked upon the season with great team vigor and unity.

Perhaps the dual meet season can best be recognized for not only the fine individual performances, but moreover, for the unprecedented team spirit exemplified against Westfield and Hill. The Hill meet culminated the regular season with a tie, 86-86, and although the Larries were suffering through the illness of a few individuals, they swam with fantastic poise and incentive making that meet probably one of the most exciting in Lawrenceville history.

But the prime meeting of the year, like all those in the past, was the Eastern Interscholastic Swimming Championships. The competition at this meet was better than ever, as all but four pool records were smashed. Lawrenceville was highlighted by its medley relay of Tom Mathews, Alan Post, Dan Menichella, and John Warren which went on to finish second in the finals and break the existing school record, in addition to earning All-American status at 1.38:0. Alan Post was the only individual in the finals finishing fifth in the 100 yd. breaststroke, but other team members scored points in the next six places.

All in all, Lawrenceville's fine sixth place performance in the Easterns reflected the team's sacrifice and dedication throughout the season.

Season's REcord – 6-7

The Lawrenceville wrestling team, despite its mediocre 6-7 record had a strong year, boasting six medalists in the New Jersey State Championships. Although it lost to Hill once again, this young team overcame tough opponents such as Peddie and Rutgers Prep and eventually finished fourth in the state.

Starting at 101, Jon Haas, completely reversed his last year's record of 2 and 11 to an excellent 14-3. He capped his season with a silver medal in the state tournament and for his efforts he was presented with the team's outstanding wrestler award.

At 108, lower schooler Dave White did a commendable job, for although he did not place in the states, he wrestled some fine matches. With a full year of varsity experience behind him, he will definitely be an asset to the team in upcoming years.

Nick Corcoran (115) had another fine season by equalling his silver medal performance of last year. His 12-2 record (on a bad shoulder) was one of the team's best, and next year as a co-captain, he should at least equal this performance.

The duties at 122 were split between Jack Lamberton and Rick Ramagosa, for during the season they wrestled off a total of ten times. Jack displayed some fine wrestling throughout the season, and being at 129 for the state tournament, he performed well, losing only a 7-2 decision to the number one seed. Rick also wrestled well throughout the season, as his 13-12 victory against Ewing was one of the most exciting bouts of the year.

At 129, Ken Marra had a successful season. It ended in disappointment, however, as an injury late in the year forced him out of the state tournament. Next year, as the team's other co-captain, Ken will be after that eluding state medal.

Mike Butler (135) in his second year of varsity wrestling picked up several key victories through the year. Paul Track (141) after a slow start, improved vastly during the season, and his strong performance in the states indicates promise for next year. At 148, foruth form rhinie, Joe St. Georges, helped the team immensely as he more than adequately filled last year's captain's (Don Duffy) spot. He took a bronze in the state tournament, losing only a 9-4 decision to the eventual champ.

Martin Carroll (158) although he did not place in the states, demonstrated some fine wrestling during the year. He was presented with the team's dedication award.

Senior Bob Reardon had a strong season at 170. A nagging back injury kept him out of the line up for a few matches, but he returned in time for the state tournament where he took third.

Team captain Jerry Corcoran (188) had the finest record on the team, an excellant 15-2-1. Despite losing his chance for the state crown by dropping a controversial 11-9 decision in the finals, Jerry provided the team's leadership throughout the season. He will be missed next year.

First year wrestler Orazio Lattanzi did a commendable job throughout the year. He compiled a 13-5 record in the heavyweight division and garnered a bronze metal in the state tournament.

Next year looks extremely promising as 9 lettermen will be returning, including state medalists Haas, Corcoran, and St. Georges. The team, along with coaches Graupner and Bailey, hopes to top next year's season with a victory over the Hill and possibly an overall state championship.

UPPER HOUSE FIRE

May 12, 1977

Fire broke out in a third floor room of the Upper House on the morning of May 12. The smoke-detecting system that was installed in all the School's dormitories following the George House fire of April 1975 triggered the alarm at 11:39 a.m. and promptly brought fifteen pieces of fire-fighting equipment to the scene from three Lawrence Township departments. By the time the flames had been extinguished, one room had been completely gutted, the third floor had suffered major smoke damage, and one second floor room had sustained severe water damage. No injuries resulted, but property damage was estimated at about $60,000.

Twenty-seven students and one of the two Upper housemasters had to be relocated, most of them for only a few days, but seven of the boys and housemaster Jim Blake were dislocated for the duration of the term.

Ironically, the fire started in the same room where the 1968 Upper House fire originated. The origin has not been determined, although student carelessness or disregard of the regulations have been ruled out.

Upper House resident Kevin Brady '77 suggested that if Upper boys were granted a day's recess from classes they could accomplish the initial cleanup. Bruce McClellan accepted the suggestion, and on Friday, May 13, Upper House boys, only two "goldbricks" excepted, did yeoman service under Kevin's direction. Jim Blake articulated the sentiment of many faculty, calling the job "their finest hour."

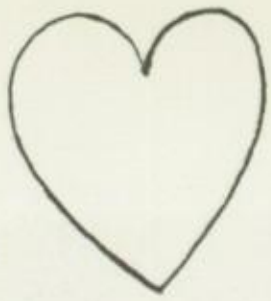
Tis every Lawrenceville students' fate,
To find a Stuart girl for a date.
But each will learn far too late,
That the Stuart girls will never mate

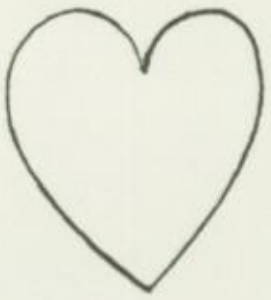
Every Stuart girl likes to yack,
And stab each other in the back.
The chatty cats' favorite snack
Is a bowl of cream and a dirty crack

Yes the story never ends,
A Larrie his allowance always spends
And then gets a case of the benz
When after supping she says, " . . . only friends"

Signed
A bunch of suckers from Upper
P.S. (We're the guys with the empty bank accounts chewing ice)



Tis a crying shame for us to hear,
That Hudibras cost so dear.
But to every Stuart girl it's clear,
That the Larries will always buy their beer.



Tis not to hard to be trapped,
And date a Stuart girl with a big yap.
You'll find you're not the only sap
Who with a Stuart girl failed to nap.

We at L'ville may be ninnies
But we're sure glad we aren't all guineas.
In conclusion we'd like to say
Thanks Stuart for making our day.

Bank, Bursar Goof Duplicate Bills Sent

by RICHARD COOMBER

A recent monetary mixup has brought considerable confusion to the Lawrenceville Bursar, the National State Bank of Lawrenceville, and parents alike. The School Bursar sent out bills in November for School expenses of students, about seventy, who had no money in their School accounts at the Bank; in December the Bank sent home statements which deducted the same charges as those already made by the Bursar. The result was a plethora of phonecalls from parents, a few double checks, and consequently a hefty workload for the Bank and Bursar to correct the mistake.

Before stating the causes of the problem, one must understand the relations between the Bank and Bursar. A paraphrasing of the description of Mrs. Patricia Bank employee, follows: a Bursar deals only with the Lawrenceville its functions(courses, When it collects certory fees, it does so Bank, which handles dents' School account sends the Bursar required and deboys' balance. the account cancompletely, the amount of Bank account due to School when bills the ed fees. when the on the

McClellan Expects Tuition Boost

The cost of a Lawrenceville education will go up again for next year, according to Head Master Bruce McClellan. "There is no doubt in my mind that we're going to have to raise our tuition," he said on Wednesday afternoon, January 7, while speaking with a group of fifth formers during a tea in Foundation House.

"You can trim and save and tighten your belts all you want, but you have to deal with the reality of the economy which says simply worth less.

In making his informal remarks, he pointed out that tuition at Lawrenceville has always been "about the cost of a mid-sized car; it was when I first came here and still is."

The full Board of Trustees must approve any change in tuition rates; they are expected to deal with the matter at their meetings on January 30 and 31.
